

Report on “Seminar on Campus Security and Children Emergency Aid for African English Speaking Countries- Beijing 22.04.14 to 05.05.14”

First of all I would like to thank the Ministry and Chinese Authorities for giving me the chance to take part in this seminar and have, maybe a lifetime opportunity, to represent my country in an international conference.

Please find enclosed herewith a copy of the seminar schedule as submitted by AIBO. The main concern of the seminar was to emphasize on the wish of Chinese authorities to help developing countries' Governments to handle Emergency situations in schools and also to share different aspects of the Chinese culture.

Different types of Emergency situations may arise in schools due to: Bad weather conditions like Cyclones and Natural Calamities such as Earthquakes & Flash Floods. Other potential dangers are: a sudden fire outbreak, attacks from people coming from outside the school, and food poisoning. Each of the potential dangers and measures of how to handle them properly was explained in full details in the different sessions of the seminar.

Among the numerous measures laid out about how to handle emergency situations was: First Aid. A theory session was conducted where essential methods of life saving and emergency relief were explained and a practical session was also conducted where CPR and Artificial breathing techniques were taught.

Security on campus was also discussed and proper monitoring of access to and from schools was emphasized on. Proper precautions should be taken while handling food in school canteens in order to avoid food poisoning. Water tanks should be cleaned regularly and water samples sent to laboratories for appropriate tests to ensure that quality of drinking water in schools is up to international standards. Also laws and regulations should be established by the government to assign different levels of responsibilities about campus security in order to improve management of security on campus.

The Chinese Authorities are very attentive to children security & care and want to extend their knowledge, experience and help to Developing Countries. Various laws and regulations about Disaster Management, child injury emergency care, general First Aid techniques and Nutrition Health as applied in schools in china were extensively discussed.

China and other African countries participating in this seminar have been victims of numerous and frequent calamities be it natural or due to human factors. Sharing their experience on these catastrophes and the way they have handled them has been very fruitful to me and will definitely help me to extend this knowledge to my country in case these emergency situations arise here in Mauritius.

Being a School Superintendent, acquiring this level of international knowledge and contact has helped me broaden my acquaintance on the very concepts of First Aid and Campus Security. It has also helped me become a more matured and confident First Aider. The sessions on management of campus security has also been very enriching as it forms part of our day to day activities at school.

We have also had the chance to visit the city of Shanghai as the field trip of the program. We were taken to main touristic places of the city by a very friendly tour guide whose good humor has made the trip even more exciting. We have visited the main shopping markets, leisure parks, restaurants, and fascinating world famous museums like the Silk Museum of Shanghai.

As a conclusion, I would thank again the Ministry and The Chinese Authorities for this fulfilling and rich experience. I am enclosing some pictures to share with you the special moments of my trip to china
