

COMMUNIQUÉ
AWARD OF POSTGRADUATE COMMONWEALTH
SCHOLARSHIPS IN THE UNITED KINGDOM FOR YEAR 2018

Applications are invited from qualified Mauritian candidates for the nomination of up to three Commonwealth Scholarships, tenable in the United Kingdom as from September/October 2018 (under the above-mentioned programme) in the following categories for full time studies:

- (i) Master's course (one year);
- (ii) PhDs.

The Mauritian Authorities have been informed that the Commonwealth Scholarship Commission in the UK will accept no more than one nomination for PhD.

2. Course of Study

- (i) The Commonwealth Scholarships will be offered under six themes;

(a) Science and technology for development

The scholarship, which may be in any area of science or technology (including, for example, agriculture, veterinary science, or forestry), will develop knowledge and/or skills that are directly related to the specific needs of a low or middle income country. Where possible, applications should cite expressed national or local priorities.

(b) Strengthening health systems and capacity

The scholarship will develop knowledge and/or skills that will improve health provision or outcomes for disadvantaged groups in low and middle income countries. A range of approaches could be adopted, such as training staff to fill critical shortage areas; establishing better systems, processes, or management; health promotion and improving understanding of non-take up; or developing new treatments.

(c) Promoting global prosperity

The scholarship will support economic prosperity in low and middle income countries. The knowledge and/or skills gained could lead to, for example, enhanced trade capacity; improved economic understanding or decision-making by business or government; new products and services; or long-term capacity building, through the development of entrepreneurial skills, for instance.

(d) Strengthening global peace, security and governance

The scholarship will develop knowledge and/or skills that will strengthen peace and security at national, regional, or international levels. Multiple approaches could be used, such as strengthening open and transparent governance; improving mutual understanding within and between societies; or building systems that reduce the potential for conflict or encourage its resolution.

(e) Strengthening resilience and response to crises

The scholarship will develop knowledge and/or skills which will help low and middle countries adapt to changing contexts, withstand sudden shocks, or increase capacity to preserve the continuity of operations following such events. This could apply to a broad range of threats, including natural and physical disasters; long-term threats such as climate change; interruptions to the supply of key resources; or sudden economic or technological disruption.

(f) Access, inclusion and opportunity

The scholarship will develop knowledge and/or skills that will promote opportunity amongst historically disadvantaged groups in low and middle income countries. This could be through, for example, expanding educational opportunities; conducting community outreach; enhancing access to decision-making; or increasing understanding of the barriers faced. A range of disadvantage can be addressed – including social, economic, gender, ethnic, regional, or political – provided that the need is clearly stated.

- (ii) Consideration will be given to applications that demonstrably link to the development priorities of Mauritius in line with the List of Indicative Priority Fields of Study (2017/2019). Such Links should be made explicit in the candidate's write up accompanying the application.
- (iii) The List of Indicative Priority Fields of Study 2017/2019 which has been affixed on the Notice Board of the Ministry, Ground Floor, MITD House, Pont Fer, Phoenix can also be consulted on the following website:

The Commission will not confirm an award until such conditions have been met and will withdraw the offer of award if conditions are not met in sufficient time for the scholar to arrive in the UK by the commencement of the academic year.

5.3 Candidates are reminded that being nominated by the Ministry does not automatically guarantee final selection or placement in the United Kingdom and that the Commonwealth Scholarship Commission in the United Kingdom will make the final selection according to criteria which include:
